A LETTER from George Osborne in another column, presents a forcible view of the present situation from the point of view of a mechanic.

THE Portuguese Commissioner, Mr. Canavarro, has kindly brought to our notice the book which M. d'Anglade has written on Hawaii under the title, "A Polynesian Kingdom." M. d'Anglade adopts the pseudonym of G. Savin. The book is a handy volume of about 300 pages, neatly printed on good paper—as French books generally are. The different chapters have captions, such as "The Government of Hawaii," "Modern Hawaii," "Honolulu," "A Constitutional Kanaka Sovereign," "The Death of Kalakaua," "Among the Flowers," "A Trip to Kilauea," "Progress" and "Business." The inviolable description of the Leper Settlement is, of course, not wanting. The book touches all these matters with a light hand, and is full of the French charm. M. d'Anglade writes not to instruct, but to help an idle hour to pass more pleasantly, and he has succeeded. The last chapter, "Aloha," is full of grace, and shows that the author was very susceptible to that poetic and languorous beauty which is the chief charm of Hawaii.

AMONG the tourists who have lately been here, Prof. E. Charlier, who departed in the China for San Francisco, deserves special mention. He was for many years the head of the well known "Charlier Institute" of New York, where, during thirty years of its existence some of the most distinguished men of the United States received their early training, two of whom have just been appointed by President Cleveland to fill diplomatic positions abroad. Prof. Charlier spent six months here, and traveled over Maui and Hawaii, studying the character of the people, both native and foreign, as well as the social and political problems involved in the coming-ling of the various elements which comprise our heterogeneous population. Before leaving he expressed his belief very strongly, that the only solution of the question of government can be found in some form of alliance with the United States, and none seemed to him preferable to annexation, on the best terms that it can be secured. After having visited nearly every country on the globe, he considers the Hawaiian Islands as among the best, if not the very best place to spend the winter months, and should so recommend them to inquiring friends. Hawaii is fortunate to have such intelligent and observing visitors as Prof. Charlier, who can impart correct views of the political and social situation now existing here, to all who seek information about us abroad.

THE BOSTON VS. THE NANIWA.

"American" in this issue, takes an unnecessarily gloomy view of the relative fighting strength of the Japanese and American war vessels now in port. If we are not misinformed the disproportion is all in favor of the American vessels. They have more guns and more men, and as all have ordnance heavy enough to pierce the armor of either of the cruisers, it is obvious that the presence of armor does not count for much. Neither would superior steam power, under the present circumstances. The fact that the Naniwa has a couple of heavier guns is also a very questionable advantage. Cruisers nowadays are not mounted with this very heavy artillery, the advantage being on the side of quicker action and high penetrating power rather than mere weight.

Our correspondent is also, as we believe, disposed to underrate the comparative strength of the United States Navy. It is already quite a respectable force, and when the ships now allowed by law are completed, will rank sixth, or directly after England, France, Italy, Russia and Germany.

These facts of course have nothing but a speculative interest for us. It amuses people to indulge in fanciful guesses about the relative strength of ships and armies, as it amuses them to discuss the chances of the next great prize fight. Even the most refined must confess to a sneaking interest in these subjects. From the point of view of evolution, it is a survival from the time when men, like other animals, caught their prey with their own hands and devoured it raw.

The Hawaiian Gazette.

This morning's HAWAIIAN GAZETTE (12 pages) is out and it is an exceptionally newsy number. It contains everything of any importance which has happened for the past week and with timely editorial matter, the GAZETTE is a splendid newspaper to send abroad to your friends.

Appended is a brief synopsis of the contents:

Letters from Hilo, Maui and other points on the islands. Particulars of the theft of the Kalakaua crown jewels. Supreme Court matters, including a decision in the Walker vs. Peterson et al case.

An interesting interview with Mr. W. R. Castle on the political situation.

A letter from Mr. W. C. Merritt, formerly of Oahu College.

Particulars of the Station House opium robbery.

Report of the Forestry Commission and much other interesting matter.

Tahiti Notes.

From late papers it is learned that the new tariff which was intended to increase French imports to the exclusion of California products has not been found to work well, and the duties on flour, salmon, biscuits, salt beef, etc., have been reduced to the former rate—5 per cent.

The two pirates who murdered the crew and stole the schooner Niuroahiti, have been sent to France for trial. While in prison at Manila they facetiously asked the Governor to lend them a mandolin to break the monotony of prison life.

The pearl shell trade will get a set back, as the French Government will no longer permit the use of diving apparatus, and shells must now be procured by ordinary methods.

Business in the colony is in a very depressed state, owing to the low price of produce, and no change for the better may be expected for some time to come.

The American Policy.

When did the United States ever declare that its policy was not to acquire anything more than it had at any given time? There has been any amount of stump speeches by individuals both ways, but the nation has never declared any "policy" on the subject. It would have made a monumental ass of itself among nations if it had done so. If no "policy" has been declared, what, if any, has been fixed by practice? Has the nation refused more offers than it has accepted? If part of Maine, Florida, the Louisiana purchase, California, and other territory conquered and purchased from Mexico in two or three different transactions, and Alaska—half-a-dozen different acquisitions, with next to nothing to set off against them in the other direction—do not constitute a "policy" established by practice, it is hard, nay, it is impossible, to see what would constitute a "policy" for any purpose. If there are any proofs whatsoever going to show a contrary "policy," the friends of this movement would be glad to see and examine them.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

The Mikado has abolished the law in Japan which provided that the authorities could pick out a man for an unmarried woman of a certain age and compel him to marry her.

CRATER OF KILAUEA.

The Evolution of a World's Fair Panorama.

Some of the most interesting exhibitions of the Columbian Exposition will be those which are not in the Exposition, strictly speaking. All along the Midway Plaisance are to be found in various stages of construction the many special features, which in a few months will appeal to visitors. Here will be found the "villages" of Germany, Dahomey, Austria, China, Algeria, Turkey and other nationalities. Here are the Indian encampment and the captive balloon. Here, too, is the panorama representing the volcano of Kilauea, on the island of Hawaii. The great crater of this wonderful phenomenon lends itself with striking facility to representation by a great canvas, and, in view of recent complications with the Sandwich Islands, it will prove most popular next summer, aside from its inherent attractiveness.

The difficulty of painting such an immense subject as this can scarcely be appreciated by the layman. The necessity of correct draughtsmanship is seldom more patent than in laying out such an immense work, while all the exigencies which arise in the depiction of an ordinary landscape here are emphasized in a forceful and often perplexing manner. Such a task is not made the easier when painting must go on with the thermometer at zero on the outside of the building and none too high on the interior. Messrs. Albert, Grover & Burridge, the artists charged with the undertaking, are progressing with their work, which is directly under Mr. Burridge's supervision, and there will be evolved ere long a great and striking exhibition, and one instructive without.—(Chicago Weekly Graphic.)

IN THE ACTION OF MULTIPLE-POINDING at the instance of THE NATIONAL BANK OF SCOTLAND, LIMITED, against Mrs. JESSIE MORRIS or ROSS and Others.

An action of Multiplepoinding has been raised in the Court of Session in Scotland (Lord Low, Ordinary) by Mr. Douglas Gardiner & Mill, S. S. C., at the instance of The National Bank of Scotland, Limited, incorporated by Royal Charter, Pursuers and Nominal Raisers against Mrs. Jessie Morris or Ross, widow of George Ross, Posmaster and Notary Public, residing in Renfrew, Ontario, Canada, Real Raiser.

The Representatives or Trustees and Executors of the deceased George Morris, retired planter, Kailua Valley, Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, and others, Pursued, for the purpose of determining the parties having right to a sum of $292 10s. 3d. with interest accrued thereon assigned in the said The National Bank of Scotland, Limited, by the Glasgow and South-Western Railway Company, as the price of certain subjects in Canal Street, Paisley, Scotland, which belonged to the deceased, Daniel Wright, who was a son of the deceased Peter Wright, Gardener, in Paisley, aforesaid, and which subjects were acquired by the said Railway Company for the purposes of "The Glasgow and South-Western Railway Act, 1881." The said sum is claimed by the defender Mrs. Jessie Morris or Ross in virtue of a mortgage letter of debt, given by the said George Morris in her will, dated 13th September, 1884. As it is believed that the said George Morris let a Will, his representatives, trustees and executors are called in case they may desire to dispute the alleged Debt, &c. In which action the following Interdictor has been pronounced:

"7th February, 1893, Lord Low, Act Thomson, appoints intimation of the dependence of this process to be made by advertisement twice in THE PACIFIC COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER, published in Honolulu, and Claimants on the fund in medio to lodge their Condescendances and Claims by the first sedentary day in May next.

"A. LOW," of all which intimation is hereby given. J. DOUGLAS GARDINER & MILL, S. S. C., 58 Castle Street, Edinburgh, Scotland, Agents for the Real Raiser.
